

Away from the red carpet, celebs enjoy neutral hues in the privacy of their homes.

(pro tips)
Decorator to the stars

Toronto-based interior designer-slash-decorator Carion Fenn has created divine digs for actors, musicians, radio hosts and athletes. And while she won't reveal the names in her little black book, she did share some insider info on what celebrities covet for their interior spaces.

What's the hottest decorating trend among celebrities right now? Creating a space that's truly personal. Many of my clients achieve that by including sentimental pieces – such as antiques or gifts they received in college – into their decorating schemes.

How can we achieve star quality in our own homes? Buy large upholstered furniture, like sofas and chairs, in black, white or neutral tones like grey and beige. For a really decadent look, select darker wood finishes.

Which companies do you source from when designing celebrity spaces? For high-end kitchen cabinetry, I head to NEFF Kitchens in Brampton, Ontario. Thomasville has beautiful cabinetry as well, and their high-end bedroom sets are divine. As for furniture, the Barbara Barry Realized by Henredon collection at Studio B Home in Toronto is a current celeb fave. Finally, if I'm looking for quality textiles, Robert Allen is my number one destination, but, unfortunately, its merchandise is only available to interior designers. -E.K.

Britney Spears

It's rumoured that the pop princess' boudoir is totally girly and romantic: a four-poster bed, frilly sheets and lots of dainty details.

Katherine Heigl

This Grey's Anatomy gal may spend her days around the diseased, but her abode is far from dreary. The sexy young starlet has spiced up her interior with bold, bright accessories. She even painted a whole wall in an invigorating shade of red.

Melinda Clarke

For Melinda Clarke of The O.C., a treasured item in her home is a mouth-blown Murano-glass vase in cobalt blue: It's her favourite colour and holds a special place in her heart because it was a wedding gift.
